

Does your building feel grubby? Is it time for a refresh? Here's Nviro's Spring/ Summer checklist of things to consider at this time of year to keep your building clean, hygienic and safe.

What can you see?
Does your carpet look grubby? Stained?	None of this gives a good impression to your building users or visitors. You want them to feel comfortable in your environment, so maybe it's time to think about how to improve it.
If you move a piece of furniture, can you tell it's the same carpet?
Did someone spill their coffee and can you still see the mark?
Upholstery marked through use or from ground-in dirt?	It's the best time of year to arrange carpet and upholstery cleaning and stain removal – it generally stays cleaner for longer over the summer so if you do it now, it'll have a bigger impact.
What can you feel?
If you run your hand along the surface, is it sticky?	A deep clean can ensure that we focus on all the areas that don't usually get touched. That means we remove dust on unused areas and remove sticky patches. Gum removal can target specific areas where you know you have a problem or we can review and target what we find!
Is it safe to run your hand under a table or chair?
What can you smell?
Over the course of a long damp winter we get used to the smells that build up as a result of the weather and the elements being brought inside.	A carpet or upholstery clean can make all the difference in giving your environment a sense of freshness and get rid of any lingering smells.
